

VECTOR OPTICS ARBITER

You just don't know what life will throw at you.

Is today the day you find predators out in the field threatening your animals or children?

Is this the day you wake up to hear noises in your home at night?

For close quarter shooting with a true one power magnification or the ability to turn up to 4 magnification and reach out to 300 meters, the Arbiter 1-4 variable power scope does it all.

It uses a Circle-Dot reticle which, according to Gestalt psychology, draws the eye faster to the center than a traditional crosshair. Faster acquisition speed to deal with the unknown.

The reticle is glass etched, and during the day does not need any power. But should night fall, the reticle illuminates in various brightnesses of red to give contrast to dark backgrounds.

If you don't know what you will need or when you will need it, then know this; you need the Arbiter.
